CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION 1

CHAPTER 2 THE INFORMATION PROBLEM—GOALS,
DELIMITATIONS AND METHODS OF STUDY 5

- 2.1 Introduction 5
- 2.2 Frame of reference 6
- 2.3 Formulation of the problem 16
 - 2.3.1 Financial market fluctuations and the cost of foreign loans 16
- 2.4 Aims 22
 - 2.4.1 Ideal aims 22
 - 2.4.2 Actual aims 23
- 2.5 Delimitation of the study 26
- 2.6 Related studies 28
- 2.7 Methodology 32
 - 2.7.1 Choice of period to be studied 33
 - 2.7.2 Data collection 34
 - 2.7.3 Choice of analytical method 35
- 2.8 Plan of the following chapters 35

CHAPTER 3 FOREIGN BORROWING IN CORPORATE
OPERATIONS—A SYSTEMS VIEW 37

- 3.1 Introduction 37
- 3.2 Systems picture of corporate decisions under foreign exchange uncertainty 38

3.3	Capital maintenance	40
3.3.1	Decision aspects of the foreign loan	46
3.3.1.1	Terms of the loan	47
3.3.1.2	The forward market	51
3.3.1.3	Risk premium	55
3.3.1.4	New forms of borrowing	56
3.3.1.5	Choice of loan currency	57
3.3.1.6	Taxation aspects	59
3.4	Exchange risk	61
3.4.1	Currency risk versus country risk	69
3.4.2	Accounting risk and economic risk	71
3.5	Exchange risk in corporate operations	75
3.5.1	Risk preferences	80
3.5.2	Exposure management	82
3.5.3	Foreign loans and hedging opportunities	89
3.5.3.1	Decision to hedge on the forward market	89
3.5.4	Exchange rate reserve	91
3.5.5	Risk management—the organizational aspect	92
CHAPTER 4	ANALYSIS OF THE FOREIGN EXCHANGE MARKET, 1974–84	99
4.1	Introduction	99
4.2	Models and equilibrium relationships	100
4.2.1	The Purchasing Power Parity theory	110
4.2.1.1	Choice of index	113
4.2.1.2	Choice of base period	115
4.2.1.3	Bilateral or multilateral measurement	118
4.2.1.4	Analysis of the purchasing power parity index, 1974–84	118
4.2.2	The Interest Rate Parity theory	125
4.2.2.1	Analysis of the Interest Rate Parity theory, 1974–84	126
4.2.3	Fisher's Open Relationship	135
4.2.3.1	Analysis of Fisher's Open Relationship for the period 1974–84	138
4.2.4	Some concluding comments on the equilibrium relationships	149
4.3	Analysis of the spot market	151
4.3.1	Box–Jenkins analysis of spot rates	161
4.3.2	Correlations between exchange rate movements in different currencies, 1974–84	166
4.4	Analysis of the forward market	170
4.4.1	Box–Jenkins analysis of forward rates	173
4.5	Exchange rate forecasts	176

4.5.1	Long-term forecasts	180
4.5.2	Short-term forecasts	181
4.5.2.1	Forward rate as a forecast	183
4.5.2.2	Comparison of market-based forecasts, 1974–84	194
4.5.3	Exchange rate forecasts in corporate planning	200
CHAPTER 5	FINANCIAL MARKET FLUCTUATIONS AND THE COST OF FOREIGN LOANS, 1974–84	209
5.1	Introduction	209
5.2	Corporate cost of capital	210
5.3	Interest rate patterns	212
5.4	Additional cost index	222
5.5	The cost of hedging a loan—an example	227
CHAPTER 6	MAIN APPROACHES TO FOREIGN EXCHANGE ACCOUNTING	229
6.1	Introduction	229
6.2	Recapitulation of the problems involved	229
6.3	International approaches	230
6.3.1	Development in the US standards	233
6.3.2	Development in the UK standards	240
6.3.3	Comparisons of international recommendations or statements	242
6.4	Directions for further research on foreign exchange accounting	249
CHAPTER 7	PROPOSALS FOR NEW ACCOUNTING STANDARDS FOR MONETARY ITEMS	253
7.1	Introduction	253
7.2	Need for new principles	253
7.3	Conditions in the example	257
7.3.1	Amortization	258
7.3.2	Accounting periods	259
7.4	Method based on Purchasing Power Parity theory	262
7.4.1	Prerequisites	265
7.4.2	Application of the method, with an example	265
7.5	Method based on Fisher's Open Relationship	268
7.5.1	Prerequisites	269
7.6	Method based on forward exchange rates	270
7.6.1	Prerequisites	270
7.7	Comparison of recommended methods	270
7.7.1	Empirical evaluation	273

CHAPTER 8	SUMMARY AND RECOMMENDATIONS	283
APPENDIX 1	EXCHANGE RATE ARRANGEMENTS	289
APPENDIX 2	RELEVANT VARIABLES AND SOURCES IN THE DATA BASE USED	293
APPENDIX 3	BREAK-EVEN POINT FOR FOREIGN LOAN DECISION-MAKING	297
APPENDIX 4	EXAMPLES OF DIFFERENT METHODS OF TRANSLATION	299
APPENDIX 5	DIFFERENT WAYS OF INFLUENCING THE RISK EXPOSURE	303
APPENDIX 6	YIELD ON SPOT AND FORWARD SPECULA- TION	305

List of tables

- 2.1 Sources of exchange risk 27
- 3.1 Methods of calculating cost in dollars of foreign currency loans 58
- 3.2 Characteristics of foreign exchange exposure 64
- 3.3 Evaluation of traditional exchange exposure measurement methods 65
- 3.4 Corporate cash flows and exchange risk exposure 66
- 3.5 Balance sheet translation rules 75
- 3.6 Categories of decisions affecting corporate exchange positions 84
- 3.7 Company's expected exposure at different combinations of risk attitudes and ideas about the efficiency of the market 87
- 3.8 Hedging decisions 90
- 3.9 Organizational unit at which specific exchange risk management subtasks are performed 94
- 3.10 Risk influence and the distribution of decision-making 96
- 4.1 Purchasing power parity index, 1974–84 116
- 4.2 Openness to international trade 124
- 4.3 Mean and standard deviation in the deviation from interest rate parity based on three-month treasury bill rates 129
- 4.4 Mean and standard deviation in the deviation from interest rate parity based on three-month commercial bank prime lending rates 130
- 4.5 Covered interest arbitrage profit opportunities 131
- 4.6 Number of individual observations outside the 'economic interest parity interval' for different currencies and for the period 1974–84 132
- 4.7 Mean and standard deviation in the deviation from

- Fisher's Open Relationship based on three-month treasury bill rates 141
- 4.8 Mean and standard deviation in the deviation from Fisher's Open Relationship based on three-month commercial bank prime lending rates 141
- 4.9 Greatest positive and negative deviations from Fisher's Open Relationship, based on treasury bill rates during the period 1974–84 148
- 4.10 Greatest positive and negative deviations from Fisher's Open Relationship, based on commercial bank prime lending rates during the period 1974–84 148
- 4.11 Mean and standard deviation in weekly percentage change in spot rate 156
- 4.12 Greatest positive and negative weekly percentage change in spot rate during the period 1974–84 156
- 4.13 Number of sequences of same sign of weekly changes in the exchange rate during the period 1974–84 159
- 4.14 Estimated parameters in ARIMA (p,d,q) models for description of spot rate movements 160
- 4.15 Test of alternative ARIMA-models against the random-walk model for descriptive purposes concerning the spot rate 162
- 4.16 'Best' ARIMA model in different periods 165
- 4.17 Correlation between the weekly percentage change in the spot price of different currencies in SEK, 1974–84 167
- 4.18 Correlation between the weekly percentage change compared to the basket in the spot price of different currencies in SEK, 1974–84 167
- 4.19 Correlation between the weekly percentage change compared to the basket in the spot price of different currencies in SEK, 1974–76 168
- 4.20 Correlation between the weekly percentage change compared to the basket in the spot price of different currencies in SEK, 1978–84 168
- 4.21 Correlation between the monthly percentage change compared to the basket in the spot price of different currencies in SEK, 1978–84 169
- 4.22 Mean and standard deviation in three-month forward premium/discount 173
- 4.23 Estimated parameters in ARIMA (p,d,q) models for description of movements in three-month forward rates 174
- 4.24 Tests of alternative ARIMA-models against the random-walk model for descriptive purposes concerning the three-month forward rate 175

- 4.25 Identification and ranking of the most useful indicators of future exchange rate movements 178
 - 4.26 Three-month forward rate as a forecast of the future spot rate, 1974–84 185
 - 4.27 Relative three-month forward premium/discount as a forecast of relative changes in exchange rates, 1974–84 186
 - 4.28 Mean and standard deviation in forecast errors in percent in forecasts based on three-month forward premium/discount 188
 - 4.29 Mean forecast error in forecasting the change in spot rate three months ahead 195
 - 4.30 Standard deviation in the forecast error in forecasting the change in spot rate three months ahead 197
 - 5.1 Variability of long-term interest rates 214
 - 5.2 Real bond yields 220
 - 5.3 Margins on long-term bonds 221
 - 5.4 Additional cost of foreign loans 226
 - 5.5 Additional cost of foreign loans for a Swedish borrower—separated into an interest rate part and a foreign exchange rate part 227
 - 5.6 Actual cost in local currency on loans on the Swiss bond market for borrowers from different countries 227
 - 6.1 Comparisons between proposals and statements for foreign exchange accounting 244
 - 7.1 The distribution of capital costs for a Swedish borrower when the foreign debt is evaluated on a basis of the closing rate 263
 - 7.2 Measures for comparison of different accounting standards when accounting for capital costs of borrowing in foreign currencies, 1974–79. Closing rate against PPP rate 277
 - 7.3 Measures for comparison of different accounting standards when accounting for capital costs of borrowing in foreign currencies, 1974–79. Closing rate against interest rate differential 278
 - 7.4 Measures for comparison of different accounting standards when accounting for capital costs of borrowing in foreign currencies, 1974–79. Closing rate against forward rate 279
 - A6.1 Mean and standard deviation in speculative yield on spot transactions 305
 - A6.2 Mean and standard deviation in speculative yield on forward transactions 311
