CHAPTER I	The Problem and the Theoretical Framework	11
CHAPTER II	Further Specification of the Model	24
	A. Extent and Subdivision of the Production system . . .	24
	B. Import	36
	C. Distribution Services, Customs Duties, Indirect Taxes, and Subsidies.	44
	D. Secondary Production	48
CHAPTER III	Estimation of the Constants of the Model . .	59
	A. Introduction	59
	B. Available Data	61
	C. Supplementation of Available Data with Special Survey Material.	65
	D. Procedure in Estimating the Constants of the Model .	68
CHAPTER IV	Estimation of Figures for Final Consumption	70
	A. Introduction	70
	B. Available Data	71
	C. Supplementation of Available Consumption Figures by Surveys and other Special Investigations	72
CHAPTER V	Input-Output Tables and Input Coefficients .	74
CHAPTER VI	Relations between Final Product, Total Pro- duct and Consumption of Primary Commodi- ties	86

CHAPTER VII Total Production and Consumption of Primary Commodities 1957	104
A. Problems	104
B. Total Production	106
C. Consumption of Primary Commodities	112
D. Production and Consumption for Export	120
 MATRIX TABLES	 131
A. Matrix A . Direct Consumption of Produced Commodity- Groups per Unit of Output	132
B. Matrix B . Direct Consumption of Primary Commodity- Groups per Unit of Output	156
C. Matrix $(I - A)^{-1}$. Total Production Requirement per Unit of Output.	168
D. Matrix $B(I - A)^{-1}$. Total Consumption of Primary Com- modity-Groups per Unit of Output.	192
E. Matrix $(I - A)^{-1}Z$. Total Production for Different Types of Final Demand 1957	204
F. Matrix $B(I - A)^{-1}Z$. Total Consumption of Primary Commodity-Groups for Different Types of Final De- mand 1957	216
