

CONTENTS

List of Figures	ix
List of Tables	xi
Preface and Acknowledgements	xv
Chapter
1 Introduction	1
1.1 The Consulting Sector Deserves more Attention	1
1.2 The First Book about International Consulting Operations	4
1.3 Unique Data on Tender Documents	7
1.4 The Role of Consulting Firms and their Services	8
1.5 Outline of the Book	12
2 Theoretical Framework	15
2.1 The Nature of Consulting Services: Long-Term Relationships	15
2.2 The Nature of Consulting Firms	18
2.2.1 Independent Firms	18
2.2.2 Knowledge-Based Firms	20
2.3 The Market Structure: Scope Economies	25
2.4 The Customers: The Clients	28
3 International Consulting	31
3.1 International versus Domestic Consulting	31
3.2 The Demand Shock Theory	34
3.3 The Entry Mode Choice by Nordic Consulting Firms	38
3.4 Summary	45
4 Development Agencies, Clients and Consulting Firms	47
4.1 The Role of Development Agencies	47
4.2 Bilateral versus Multilateral Development Agencies	50
4.3 Procurement Rules	55
4.4 Summary	61

5	Knowledge Transfer	63
5.1	Knowledge Transfer in the Consulting Sectors	63
5.2	Organization Mode and Development Level	67
5.3	Transfer through Training and Cooperation	70
5.4	Summary	75
6	Success Factors when Tendering	77
6.1	Alternative Tender Systems	77
6.2	Competition Step 1: Prequalification and Invitation	79
6.3	Competition Step 2: Tender Document and Final Selection	82
6.3.1	Hypotheses	82
6.3.2	Bivariate Analysis	86
6.3.3	Multivariate Analysis	91
6.3.4	Interpretations, Consequences and Policy Implications	97
6.4	Negotiated Contracts	99
6.5	Summary	101
7	Management Services and State-Owned Consulting Firms	103
7.1	Engineering versus Management Services	103
7.2	Consequences of the Trend toward Management Services	112
7.3	Privately Owned versus State-Owned Consulting Firms	114
7.4	Predation by Putting Rivals at a Cost Disadvantage	118
7.5	Consequences of the Exclusive Dealing Contract	122
7.6	Summary	123
8	Success Strategies and Competitiveness in the Global Market	125
8.1	Focus on Specific Host Countries	125
8.2	The Modern Consulting Firm	130
8.3	Typical Mistakes	135
8.4	Cooperation with Contractors	137
8.5	Government Assistance and Subsidies	139
8.6	Swedish Consulting Firms and Multilateral Development Agencies	141
8.7	Summary	146
9	Conclusions	149

Appendix

A	Swedish and Nordic Consulting Exports	157
A.1	Databases and Sample Selection	157
A.2	History of Swedish Consulting Firms	159
A.3	Basic Statistics on Firms	163
A.4	Statistics on Sectors and Regions	167
A.5	Statistics on Tender Documents	171
B	Questionnaires	179
B.1	Questionnaire on Firms	179
B.2	Questionnaire on Proposals	183
	References	187
	Abbreviations	193
	Index	195