

Contents

Preface	5
I. The Swedish investment funds system — its purpose and legislative framework	7
I:1. Introduction	7
I:2. Historical review	9
I:3. Present legislation — a brief outline	12
I:4. Benefits derived from an I-funds release — profitability considerations by the individual firm	15
I:5. Macroeconomic aspects	21
I:6. Circumstances and conditions of the general release of I-funds in 1962/63	30
II. Method of measurement	33
II:1. Introduction	33
II:2. Basic empirical material	33
II:3. The net effect operationally defined	36
II:4. Errors of measurement	40
II:5. On the method of measurement — a theoretical exposition	44
III. Empirical findings	65
III:1. IF-investments in construction — description of data	65
III:2. Investments in construction — the aggregate effects measured	68
III:3. Investments in construction — measurements regionally sectorized (the employment effect)	85
III:4. Investments in machinery and equipment	100
III:5. A comparison between IF-investments in machinery and equipment and in construction	106
III:6. I-funds effects and the credit market	108
III:7. Information from current statistics — a simple method of prediction	117
III:8. Concluding remarks	131
Appendix I. The question forms	137
Appendix II. Statistical section	143
Bibliography	157